April, 2010

Dear Members and Friends,

This year marks the 65th anniversary of the end of World War II. As we pause to remember the millions of people who were killed in the Holocaust we ask you to consider making a donation to the organization of your choice. There are survivors still suffering the lasting impacts of those years of starvation and abuse and Jewish social service agencies need help caring for them. Your favorite Shoah memorial or museum could use your financial support. Please be generous.

GSI does not seek or accept donations. We are happy to share information and resources freely and ask that you make your donations where you feel they will help the most people. Remember you can donate your time as well as your money.

It is also a good time to ensure that your relatives and friends who were killed in the Shoah are remembered. See the announcement from Yad Vashem below regarding the Pages of Testimony and do what you can to help recover the names of the victims of the Holocaust.

Congratulations to the US Holocaust Memorial Museum (USHMM) on achieving this milestone: Museum welcomes 30 millionth visitor. Congratulations also to the Illinois Holocaust Museum in Skokie on its Inaugural Year Celebration.

GSI sent a letter to President Obama urging him to include more children and grandchildren of survivors on the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Council, especially those who have a history of working intimately with the survivor community's interests. The Council is the governing body of the USHMM. To read the letter: www.genshoah.org/letters/letter_Pres_Obama_020910.pdf.

Finally, if you attend a Yom Hashoah commemoration that you find very meaningful, please share the experience with us at GSI@genshoah.org. If we can collect recommendations / suggestions on commemoration programs we can make this information available in the future for communities that wish to see what has worked well in other areas. This edition of the newsletter may offer program ideas for commemorations in the future as we have a broad, international listing of events.

We welcome the hundreds of new members joining us this month and thank everyone for your continuing support,

Generations of the Shoah International (GSI)

We already have dozens of members throughout the US and from other countries. This global interactive listserv is the fastest way to reach the survivor community: GSI@genshoah.org.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Warning: Survivors should be careful about releasing personal information online.

We want to caution survivors and their families about releasing personal information over the internet on listservs or e-mail groups. For example, your birth date information can be used for identity theft. GSI will not publish that kind of personal information in any of the searches we post in our newsletter in order to protect the privacy and identity security of our members and their families. Note: Reputable institutions, like Yad Vashem and the US Holocaust Memorial Museum, will protect your privacy and not publicly release your personal information.

From Yad Vashem

In preparation for Yom Hashoah, we invite you to take an active role in recovering the names of Shoah Victims before they are lost forever. To date 3.8 million names have been recorded in the online Central Database of Shoah Victims' Names; but millions of Holocaust victims still remain unknown. Join volunteer activists worldwide to distribute posters and Pages of Testimony to local Jewish community venues. Visit our website for more information on the Shoah Victims' Names Recovery Project and for ideas and resources on how to organize a names collection effort in your community or contact us at: names.outreach@yadvashem.org.il

On Holocaust Remembrance Day, April 12, 2010 Yad Vashem will open a unique new exhibition, Virtues of Memory: Six Decades of Holocaust Survivors' Creativity. The first of its kind exhibition showcases the creative works of some 300 Holocaust survivors whose artistic expressions of their Holocaust experiences and memories are housed at Yad Vashem. Joining memoirs, testimonies and film, these artworks form a crucial aspect of Holocaust commemoration, documentation and education. www.yadvashem.org

The story of a Sephardic Community in the Holocaust

A fascinating new exhibition looks at the Jewish community of Monastir, Macedonia. Of the 3,351 Jews who lived there before the Germans invaded, only a few survived the Holocaust. Almost all the aspects of the Holocaust -- the various stories and possibilities are seen in the story of this small town. The testimonies about this entire world that has been lost are very moving. <http://www1.yadvashem.org/yv/en/exhibitions/communities/monastir/overview.asp>

From the United Nations in New York

In a joint effort with the Anne Frank Center USA, the United Nations has launched a Twitter campaign for students in memory of Anne Frank. Students are asked to travel back in time and write to Anne through “tweets” as though she could communicate with the world in secret from her family’s hiding spot in Amsterdam. The Twitter campaign at <http://twitter.com/UNandHolocaust> will run through Holocaust Remembrance Day, April 11. The tweets will be posted online and exhibited at the Anne Frank Centre USA in New York.

FYI...From the Zachor Holocaust Remembrance Foundation

We remember the Holocaust in several ways. We hand down to our children the stories we have learned. We teach Holocaust education in our schools. We pause and take time to remember on Yartzheits, Yom Hashoah and the anniversary of Krystal Nacht. Just over a year ago I began ending my presentations by handing out a small pin with the Hebrew letters of the word "Zachor"...."remember". I never could have anticipated the responses gotten by giving out this small, tangible memento after my presentations. Students of all ages respond saying "I will never forget what I have learned today"... For more about this program: www.ZachorFoundation.org

FYI...The Student Holocaust Education Movement (SHEM) is a student-based, student-run organization, and is the first Holocaust commemorative movement of its kind. We believe in memory as education. Our focus is raising awareness about the Holocaust, both within the Jewish community and at large, by working with Survivors, facilitating meaningful on-topic discussion, leading museum visits, and engaging young students—from middle school to university—in an effort to pave the way to a world more humane. For more information: torchofmemory@gmail.com, www.facebook.com/torchofmemory

FYI... My name is Nurit Jugend. I'm a Classical music composer currently working on a documentary film They Played For Their Lives, which focuses on music composed and performed in the ghettos and concentration camps during the Holocaust. Through stories by Holocaust survivors, the film explores the love and need for music during those horrific times. Going beyond the survivor's experience, the film shows how the love of music was passed on by the survivors to their children and grandchildren as we try to understand the additional meaning of music in these families. We welcome any information regarding music during the Holocaust, i.e. songs/ music composed in the ghettos/ concentration camps/ hiding, as well as performers/ musicians or people who made music at the time.
